

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND HAPPY NEW YEAR Wishes David & Anna-Britt

Mom always said when she was travelling – nothing is as good as being home. I don't entirely agree with her, but it's certainly nice to come home when you been out on trips.

This year I have probably travelled more than ever. At the beginning of the year I went to India. After that I was leading a group to Israel. A little later waited a mission trip to Uganda, which was followed by another trip later.

In September I made a group visit in the footsteps of Paul to Greece. Perhaps the most enjoyable trip was when Anna-Britt and I spend three weeks together in Kenya.

A tough program with many highlights and we did enjoy wonderful days in Mombasa at the end with swimming and sunbathing.

Nice to meet our daughter Debbie and see that she is in full swing again. She was running as if she had never broken a leg. There was great difference from when we had to pull her in a wheelchair during the visit in Bollnäs.

Marcus and his girlfriend Heidi from South Africa visited us several times this year. Always fun to have them visit. Maria and Henke's is staying close by and Jonas who is now a trainee as an electrician.

What will happen 2012 ? No one knows. 2011 brought big changes in the Arab world. What will happen in countries like Iran and Iraq in 2012? Will Israel experience the peace after the sword or an attack again?

New trip to Turkey is waiting at the end of September, then I prepare for Tanzania and Kenya at the beginning of 2013. Right now it feels far forward.

We now look forward to celebrate Christmas with Göran's family, Christmas! It's all about the miracle in Bethlehem. God became man. Jesus is no longer a small child. He is on the rise everywhere in our world.

It is worth to be celebrated! MERRY CHRISTMAS
